

About Custom Modules

As you learned from the ASAP brochure, exercises are the smallest units of the training material, and modules are the next step up, in which some exercises can be grouped together in one place.

There are already some default Modules on the platform, and here's where you can find them!

Like we mentioned, you have the ability to create your own Modules, so we've included a short guide about how to do so.

Once you've either selected a default Module or created your own custom Module, you'll need to assign it to a Team as part of their learning program.

And that's pretty much it when it comes to custom Modules! If you're having trouble or would like to know more, get in touch with us at customersuccess@avatao.com!
